

Knitting History Forum

Knitting History Forum is an international, academic interest society, encouraging accurate study of the history of knitting.

Since 1993, Knitting History Forum (KHF) has advanced and promoted the history of knitting and crochet through research, exchange of ideas and information and by historical reconstruction.

Our pioneering Knitting History Conference has featured speakers from a wide variety of different fields and specialisations. We arrange additional events such as study days in museum collections. The KHF website, Knitting History, has the latest knitting history news and events as well as resources, reviews and useful links. We also discuss knitting history and research in our online forum.

Our lively and diverse membership includes textile specialists, historians, knitwear designers, curators, students, re-enactors and curious knitters and crocheters from around the world. We welcome new members. Join us!
